

Your Lips

I could never forget the taste of our first kiss

And the way you looked at me

How much I wanted to pull you toward me

But you beat me to it

Every part of my body said,

“Finally”

From a place deep inside me

There was a deep sigh of surrender and release

And our energy,

It became one

And for a split second

I lost the boundary between you and me

And it was all one

One ball,

Of floating light

While it lasted,

I melted into you

And everything was fuzzy

And then it was all light

It was blinding

And then you pulled away

But the world, had

Just for a moment,

Stopped

In your arms

Our energies,

They were one

One ball of light

A glow, a warmth I still felt

As warm as the sun

And after the heat,

And after the light

And after our energy had joined

I wasn't the same

Ever since

Ever since your lips

I changed